

BREAD and TORAH

Scholar-in-Residence Program at BI

Friday December 9th - Sunday December 11, 2016

Bread and Torah is inspired by the passage in the Mishna, Pirke Avot 3:17: Without bread [literally “flour”], there is no Torah; without Torah there is no bread. Affirming the importance of both spiritual and physical sustenance in Jewish life, Bread and Torah Programs are creative, hands-on learning experiences that combine traditional Jewish scribal arts and bread-making with Jewish spiritual teachings and practice. You can find more information at www.breadandtorah.org.

Programs creators, Rabbi Linda Motzkin, Torah scribe and parchment maker, and Rabbi Jonathan Rubenstein, bread maker and baking teacher, will join us for an inspiring, educational weekend, full of fun and engaging activities. The programs are free of charge.

Friday Evening, December 9th

Come and meet our guests at pre-service social hour.

Saturday Morning and Evening, December 10th

We will hear Rabbi Motzkin and Rabbi Rubenstein during Saturday morning Shabbat services and later in the day, following Havdalah, we will learn to make bagels and stretch a panel of Torah parchment.

Sunday morning, December 11th

The conversations continue during Brotherhood breakfast, where we just may taste bagels made the previous night.

This event would not be possible without the generous support of BI members, Drs. Jeremy Golding and Michele Roberts, and Kulin Rabbinical Fund.
